By the Editor

There is some dissension existing between the board of supervisors and the board of mayor and aldermen of the town of Waveland . . . it seems that they are unable to reach an agreement on the beach road project—the board has asked the Waveland officials to contribute as the City of Bay St. Louis did to the repair of the roadway and their response has been negative. . . on the other hand Waveland has asked for the payment of their ad valorem tax and no action has been taken by the board of supervisors. . . it seems to us that there should be a meeting of the minds of public bodies particularly when there is so much at stake. . . this roadway is Waveland's lifeline and again we repeat it is a great part of Hancock county's lifeline. . . consider it from an assessment viewpoint if you will and what it means. . . what would it be without the roadway and seawall. . . some actions should be taken to preserve what we have. . . the county has given much to Waveland in dollars and cents on this project. . . we estimate the total would exceed $750,000.00. . . get together boys, parrying for political position will not help build a bigger and better Hancock County. . . sit across the table and use your heads for the mutual benefit of all you, people. . . Teddy and Marfe Heitzmann, distributors of the Times Picayune and New Orleans States have a nice looking Jeep truck for their delivery route. . . charges against Joe Govingo, operator of the Orleans Bar for selling liquor, which were made by the constable of Beat five before Judge Rutherford have been withdrawn. . . WHY? . . . why were the charges made? are the rumors that a demand that the ante be increased true? is it also true that Joe refused to increase it and in fact refused to pay off at all and his refusal brought the filing of charges? Joe's action should be an example to all the boys in the business. . . quit paying off. . . the pap fed you that it is for the hospital last year. . . take your pencil and paper out and do a little figuring. . . you boys have been kicked around for a long time, assert your self and see if charges will be filed against you. . . it appears that our bewildered young mayor wants an expression from his people as to who shall have the power, he or the majority of the commission council. . . we know only one way to get this. . . we would have to have another election so that the people could speak again with a loud voice. . . perhaps the mayor would hear this one. . . let him resign and state that he will be a candidate to succeed himself in the special election to be called in that event. . . certainly a true expression of the people could be had in this manner. . . Bay St. Louis needs many improvements, drainage, waterworks, sidewalks, streets. . . the commission council should begin outlining a definite program for all future improvement and expansion. . . we think that assistance for surveys, etc., can be had from the Federal Works agency. . . would not hurt to check and see. . . October 8th will be REA day in Bay St. Louis, a great number of people will visit our City. . . extend them every courtesy and make them feel that they want to come back at some other time than on their annual meeting day. . . L. I. Jones, State Extension Director will be the principal speaker for the annual meeting of the Coast Electric Power Association. . . and by the way we are going to give you an outstanding paper next week. . . 6800 copies will be printed for distribution to our subscribers and to the members of the Coast Electric Power Association. . . we are trying to tell the story of the development in the area served by REA with pictures and human interest articles.

HOME CLUB LEADERS MAKE SLIP COVERS

Mary Agnes Gordon, home economist for the Extension Service, was in Bay St. Louis Tuesday and Wednesday conducting courses in making slip covers for furniture. Leaders in the Home Demonstration clubs from Logtown, Lakeshore and Clermont Harbor attended the courses. They in turn will demonstrate the procedure for the members of their respective clubs. These courses in slip cover making are part of a larger Extension Service program in home management. By using the methods taught by Miss Gordon, home makers can make old furniture look like new again with very little expense.

Federal Health Insurance Is 'Entering Wedge' To 'State Socialism' Med Dean Tells Rotary

"Compulsory National Health Insurance or Federal Health Insurance is just another very, very powerful entering wedge to state socialism," Dr. John F. McCloskey, dean of Loyola University college of pharmacy told the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club Wednesday.

Speaking at the regular weekly dinner, Dr. McCloskey told 45 rotarians and their guests that "medical services are being selected as the wedge because medical costs are a burden in time of low income and insecurity, and the mass of people will turn to and support anything which seems to offer them security."

NOT INSURANCE

"This whole program is not insurance at all, it is a new tax which will be used to support a government regulated system of medical aid of a very low grade compared to what we have today," he asserted.

Pointing out that actually there is no need for such a program the speaker cited statistics in the state of Mississippi which clearly indicate that "our health is better today than ever before." A child born in 1900, he said, could normally expect to live about 50 years. One born in 1946 could expect to live 70 years. Maternal and child deaths have steadily decreased. The death rate in this state was 12.7 in 1919 but only 9.2 in 1946, "and this occurs in a very low income state," Dr. McCloskey said.

"These types of figures show that our health program under the American plan is marvelous and amazing and steadily improving under free enterprise."

SOCIALISTIC BACKGROUND

Comparing our present plan with those of countries that have tried specialized types of legislation Dr. McCloskey delved briefly into the history and background of socialistic movements and reiterated his contention that socialized medicine is a "growing menace" in that it seems to be a part of a "future program" that will "destroy you financially and ultimately rob you of your freedom."

"What I fear most of all at the present time is that socialized medicine will creep up on us, piece by piece, without the public being fully aware of what is happening or where it will lead them."

IN PROGRESS

Steps on that destructive road already in progress are subsidized medical education; subsidies to state health centers; extension of the Veterans Administration program; medical expenses for families with $2000 to $3000 annual income paid by the federal government; creation of a bureau within the cabinet for health services; and increasing the amount of aid to private and other types of hospitals.

"These services are not free, the speaker asserted. The taxpayer and wage earner will pay for them and get only a small per centage of the benefits. Much of the money that is collected in connection with the compulsory insurance program will go for administrative expenses and will even be drained off into other and unrelated channels such as "jobs for the faithful, and . . . everything else except for the sick."

Young Angler Snags The Big Ones

BOB GENIN, JR. AND CATCH

Bob Genin, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Genin, Sr., made a catch last week that any angler many times his age would be proud to display.

Two weeks ago while fishing with his father on Jordan River, Bob snagged and landed a three pound black bass. He used a steel fly rod and a "poppin' bug" lure. The young fisherman landed the catch unassisted.

Fishing now for about six months, young Bob first took six months casting practice in his back yard and now makes a good, long distance cast. He also handles a fish well once it has struck and lands it in perfect sportsman fashion.

A second grade student at St. Joseph's Academy, Bob is his father's regular fishing companion, and has on several occasions surpassed the best effort of his father who has no mean reputation as a fisherman in these parts.

Telephone Service In South Shows Increase

Construction of new facilities by the Southern Bell Telephone Company during the four years since V-J day has brought postwar telephone growth to Mississippi at five times the pre-war rate of development.

This was revealed today as the telephone company reported on four years of record-breaking telephone progress in the state—and looked forward to what's yet to be done in meeting the heaviest demands for telephone service ever experienced.

The telephone Company, already planning and engineering in preparation for the installation of vast amounts of telephone equipment, quickly set its construction program in motion after V-J day. As it has progressed in the past few years, the demands for telephone service have kept growing by leaps and bounds.

Southern Bell has added 83,733 telephones in Mississippi in the latest four-year span, compared with 18,154 in the four-year prewar period from 1936 through 1939. There were 112,890 telephones in service in the state at the beginning of September four years ago—196,623 at the start of September this year.

GROWTH IN SOUTH

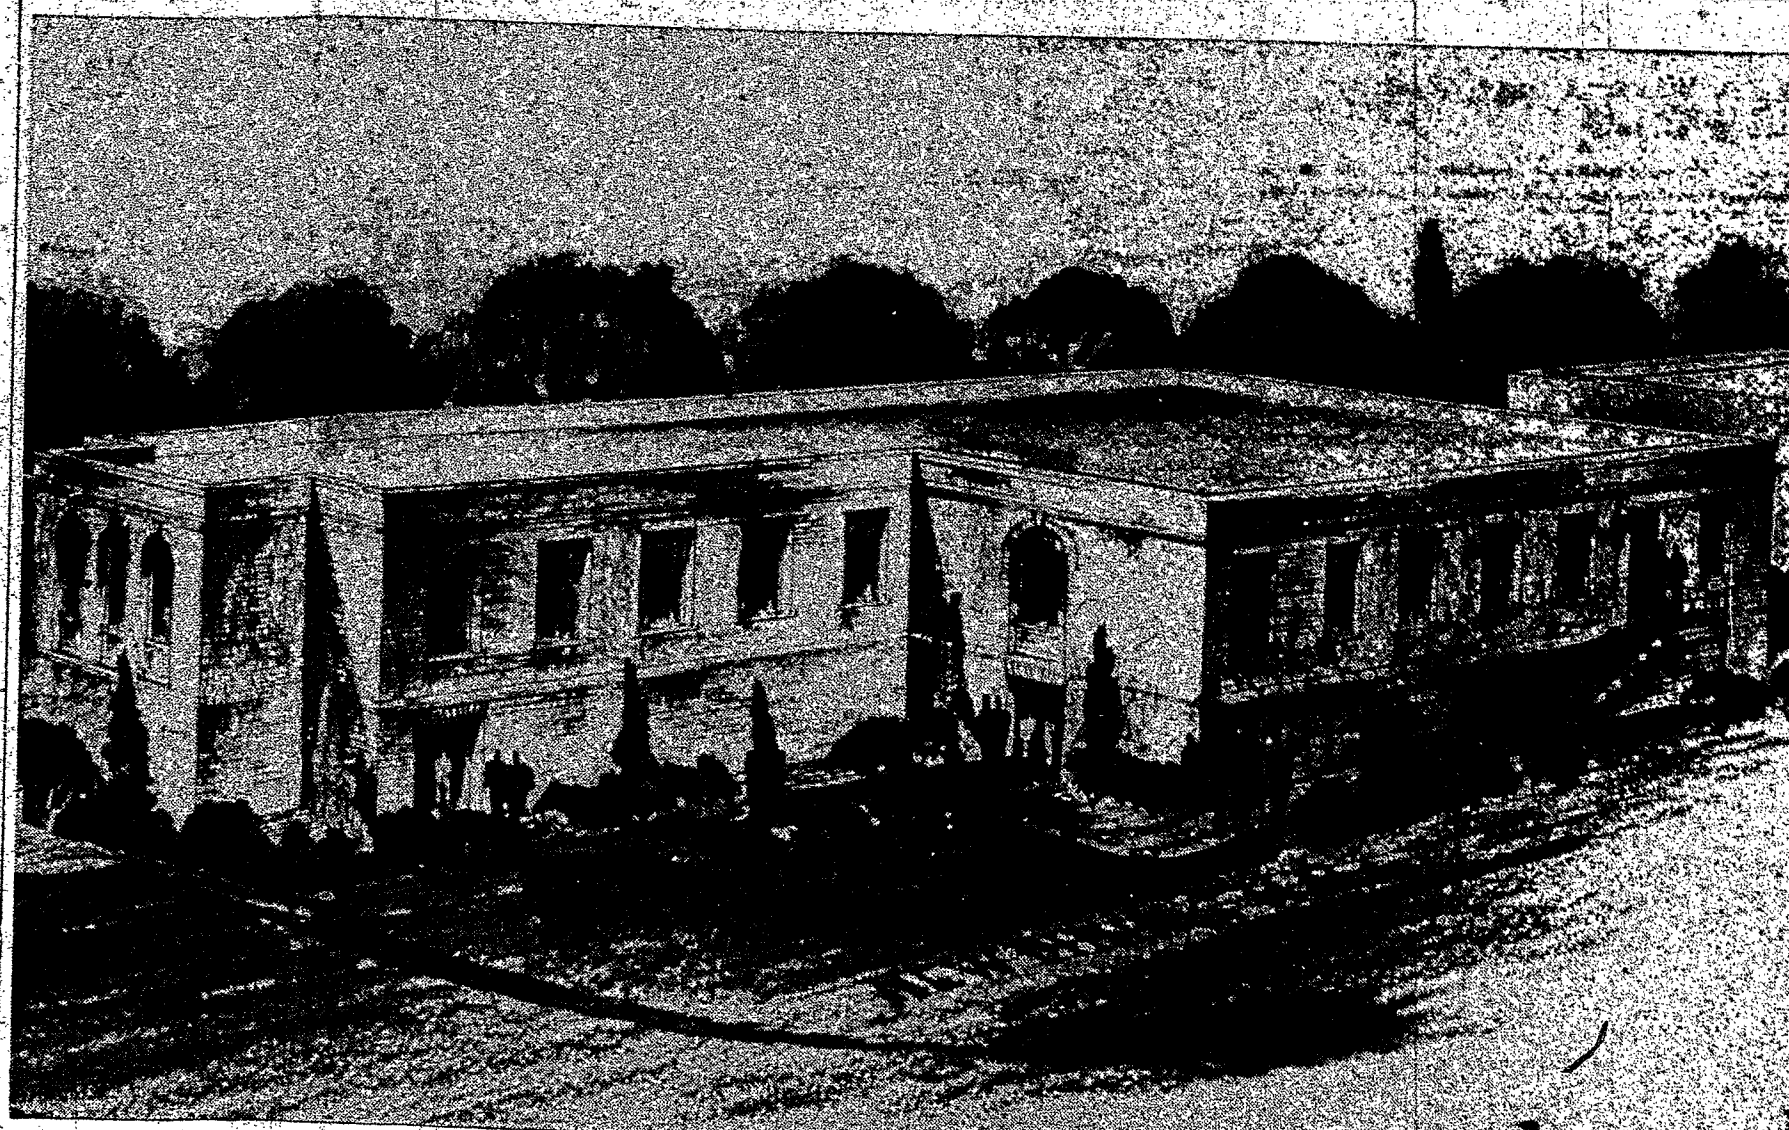

The telephone growth which Southern Bell has brought to Mississippi and the rest of the South has been much greater than the growth experienced in the rest of the nation. The economic progress, both manufacturing and agricultural, which has taken place in Dixie has caused the demands for telephone service to set new records—and likewise Southern Bell's performance in constructing new facilities has reached new high levels. In Mississippi, for the four-year period ending with September 1, 1949, a total of $35,393,310 has been spent for new facilities—five and one-third times the 1936-1939 rate of construction.

Long distance facilities have been greatly expanded during the past four years. Installation of vast amounts of long distance switchboards, central office equipment and thousands of miles of cable have resulted in a decrease in the time required to complete calls from one city to another.

Southern Bell's postwar expansion program has extended out of the cities and towns and into rural Dixie. Extending telephone service to rural farm sections alone has required the expenditure of approximately $50,000,000 in the rural areas since the war's end. Heavy postwar construction of new facilities will continue during the remainder of 1949 and on into the future.

PROGRESS IN BAY ST. LOUIS

Growth and demand for telephone service in Mississippi have followed the same progressive pattern as the South as a whole, according to Mr. Conway Dabney, manager. Telephone in Bay St. Louis alone have increased from 747 on V-J day to a total of over 1546 today, he stated. Mr. Dabney said that this means each telephone is much more valuable today than ever before.

The contract for the new dining hall and kitchen building was signed Wednesday with the Ferrilat-Rickey Construction Co. of New Orleans which has been awarded the general contract for erection of the building. Work will begin within the next few days and the structure should be ready by June. The building, to be located on Bookter street between the present kitchen and laundry, will consist of a modern kitchen a dining hall that will accommodate 300 boys and a dining room which will seat 75 brothers. The new hall which will open onto the campus, will be built of red brick and will conform in style and architecture with the other buildings of St. Stanislaus.

Sherman Co. Bid Accepted For Construction Of New R.E.A. Headquarters Building

The board of directors of the Coast Electric Power Association with the architect-engineer Wednesday awarded the construction contract for the new Headquarters building to the Sherman Construction Co., of McComb, Miss., under conditions of the base bid and in the amount of $87,790.

It is expected that an early review and subsequent approval of the boards action will be forthcoming from the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington and it is anticipated that actual construction will start early in October, H. H. Sneath, Coast Electric manager, said.

Of the six bids received by the board, that of the Sherman Construction Co. was the lowest. The other figures quoted in the close bidding were: A. C. Sanford, Inc., Albany, Ga., base bid, $92,700; Bernard and Byrd, Mobile, Ala., base bid $94,248; Armour Construction Co., Mobile, base bid, $99,800; Bartley and Binnings, New Orleans base bid, $96,700; and W. A. McDonald and Sons, Bay St. Louis, $110,933. Alternate bids providing for sprinkler protection and use of Roman Face brick were disregarded in every case by the board.

The plan for the new building covers combined office and warehouse facilities, garage and small storage buildings, and three housing units for pump and water facilities. The structure is to be served by its own electric facilities which are now extending past the site of the proposed building at Main street and Highway 90.

Ladner Elected Bay Band Head

John Ladner was chosen to succeed himself as president of the Bay High School band in a recent election held by the organization. A drummer in the band for six years and in the school orchestra, this will be his second year in office.

Other officers chosen were: Vernon Parker, vice-president; Jannell Van Trier, secretary; Leo Moran, treasurer; Ann Kennar, reporter; and Inez Kingston, Lyndall Heitzmann, and Ruth Carver, librarians.

The band is composed of 35 members, but some 45 or 50 are expected to be playing by contest time in the spring.

At present the band is rehearsing diligently in order to be prepared for the season's first football game next Friday night.

The dance orchestra is also shaping up well, according to all reports, and this group will be available for dates in the near future. Money raised through the orchestra will be used to help defray expenses of trips, band jackets, equipment, etc.

The entire group expresses regret at the resignation of George Wimberly, band director for the past two years. All agree, however, that they are fortunate in having W. W. Ruscoe as his successor. Mr. Ruscoe has had six years of experience in the field of music supervision and has played with some of the nation's top orchestras in various parts of the country.

Mrs. Joseph Kern and Mrs. C. R. Beyer motored to Plaquemine, La., this week combining business with pleasure.

CROP Director Seeks Help Of Hancock Citizens

Dr. H. C. Holcomb, state director of the Christian Rural Overseas Program was in Bay St. Louis Tuesday in order to organize a local committee to carry on the organization's work in this area.

Attending the meeting were Howard Simmons, county agent; Madge Allred, home demonstration agent; James L. Bishop, soil conservation agent; Mrs. Norton Haas, county welfare agent; Miss Louise Crawford, librarian and Warren Carver, Mayor. Clergymen from the various churches in the city had been invited, but none were able to attend.

The objectives of the meeting was to get the people of Hancock county organized and participating in this program, Dr. Holcomb said. The objectives of CROP, he said, is to get all people engaged in the production and processing of farm commodities are asked to help.

By accepting the raw material, Dr. Holcomb pointed out, CROP gives folks an opportunity to help in the Christian work of providing for the needy abroad.

The Marshall Plan, makes materials available to war torn nations through cooperation of government and commercial lines. But the Christian Rural Overseas Program goes right down to the fringe of society and helps the people who are not getting immediate and specific aid. CROP methods are wholly democratic, Dr. Holcomb said. As an illustration of this, he pointed out that a donor can designate where his contribution must go and through what channels.

There are three major distribution agents cooperating with CROP. These are Catholic Rural Life, Lutheran World Service, and Church World Service made up of some 23 protestant denominations. The efficiency of CROP is shown in the fact that 99.7% of all commodities shipped through its channels has reached its destination.

Hancock County coordinating council will call a general meeting in the near future to get the local organization underway.

Thieves Raid Four Local Business Establishments Get Between $200-300

Four business houses were broken into and rifled during the past five days, according to Sheriff B. D. Johnson.

They were Wilmer's Grocery store at Third and Sycamore streets, Lee's Service Station at Main and Beach; diBenedetto's grocery store on the Beach; and Arceneaux's Service Station at Beach and Court street.

City and county law enforcement officers have made investigations of all cases and have some few clues to work on. Fingerprints collected at Lee's and at Wilmer's indicate that it was different individuals who broke into these two establishments. The report of fingerprints found in the other places has not yet been returned to the local officers.

The robber entered Wilmer Thibaux's grocery Sunday night by breaking the lock on the front door. The outer door of the safe was unlocked and he smashed the inner door to take between $200 and $300. The loot was in the form of a sack of silver times, a box of silver dollars, and a ring. Mr. Thibaux had removed $2900 from the safe only a few hours earlier.

Only some cigarettes were taken from Joseph diBenedetto's store, a couple of inert tubes were stolen from L. Lee's filling station. No loss was reported by E. J. Arceneaux. These three business places were broken into Monday night.

Circuit Court Tries 2; Both Are Found Guilty

The second week of the September term of Circuit Court of Hancock County is still in session, Judge L. C. Corbin is presiding.

On Monday Mrs. L. J. Bourg, who had been indicted at a former term of the court on a charge of manslaughter in the killing of a cousin, Sam Banks of Fenton, withdrew her plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty. The court fined the defendant the sum of $100.00 and costs.

The trial of Percy Peters of Gainsville was started on Tuesday morning. He was charged with the larceny of cattle, the property of John Zingarling, and was represented by Bidwell Adam of Gulfport. The trial was concluded on Wednesday night and the jury remained out for nearly two hours considering their verdict. They found the defendant guilty and the court sentenced the defendant to serve three years in the penitentiary. Mr. Adam immediately filed a notice of appeal to the Supreme Court. The defendant was released on bond in the sum of $2000.00.

The state was represented by the District Attorney, Luther Maples. The firm of Gex & Gex aided in the prosecution.

No Red Trend Seen In Italy--Bishop Fahey

Italy shows no definite trend, toward Communism, Most Rev. Bishop Leo F. Fahey, coadjutor bishop of Baker City, Ore., observed here last week following his return from his ad limina visit in Rome.

Only in one section of Rome did he see openly displayed a pro-red sign and that in a totally communistic section of the city.

Bishop Fahey was a member of a large group of pilgrims who journeyed to the Holy City from the deep South under the sponsorship of Archbishop Francis R. Rummel of New Orleans. Other leading clergymen included in the group besides Bishop Fahey and Archbishop Rummel were Bishop Richard O. Gerow of Natchez and Bishop Jules B. Geanard of Lafayette. All made their ad limina visit and had audiences with the Pope at Castel Gondolfo, his summer home.

Having studied in Rome in 1922 and 1923 Bishop Fahey noted further that Italy is probably making greater progress under the Marshall Plan and E R P than any other country.

"Italy is coming back fast," he said. "They are putting up new and modern buildings and housing projects. The new buildings very much resemble American structures."

"Indeed, the Italian people are buckling down to work and are responding admirably to the aid the Americans are giving them," he added.

One of the most definite signs of the American influence in both Italy and France, the clergyman said, is the widespread manufacture and sale of that wholly American beverage, Coca-Cola.

"Jim Farley is doing a great advertising job," the bishop said laughingly.

This pilgrimage which is thought to be the first of such magnitude from the deep South, took some 300 laymen and clergymen through Switzerland and Italy.

The group sailed from New York on the Queen Mary August 12 and arrived at Cherbourg, France, August 17.

In Cherbourg, and in other cities visited, the group was given official receptions by civic, municipal, government and church leaders, including the Bishop of Bodeaux and Pierre De Gaulle, brother of General Charles De Gaulle and mayor of Paris.

Probably the greatest thrill of the journey was the visit to the Shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes.

The pilgrimage reached Lourdes just at the time of the National pilgrimage to the Shrine. Some 35,000 people were there. Bishop Fahey was especially touched by the religious fervor and great faith of European peoples. Archbishop Rummel carried the Sacrament in one of the gigantic processions attendant upon the National pilgrimage.

Bishop Geanard sang High Mass and Bishop Fahey said Mass in the Grotto. Bishop Fahey marvelled at the manner in which the French people respond to the Mass singing by heart all the parts of the ceremony.

The American pilgrims also had the good fortune to arrive in Lucerne Switzerland, at the time of the National Catholic Day for which some 50,000, mainly men and boys, had gathered.

Other points of interest visited by the group was the home of Admiral De Grosse who had joined Lafayette in aiding the Americans during the Revolutionary war.

Also visited was the gambling casino at Monte Carlo. The guide told Bishop Fahey that this was the first opportunity he had ever had to escort clergymen through the casino.

The group returned to Paris and sailed from Cherbourg on September 7 arriving in New York September 12 after having been gone exactly a month.

Henderson Named To Southern Farm Forum Advisory Committee

J. Lewis Henderson, 706 Hancock St., has accepted an invitation from the agricultural committee of the New Orleans Association of Commerce to participate in the third annual Southern Farm Forum.

The forum will be held in New Orleans early next year and will be attended by numerous Southern farmers and farm leaders. Last year the forum was attended by over a thousand persons.

Mr. Henderson has been selected as Mississippi's representative on the advisory committee which will develop the program for the forum.

The duties of the advisory committee are to help select a theme for the meeting, to select the panel session subjects, and to assist in securing men from the various states to serve on the program.

Farm forums are nothing new to Mr. Henderson. Last year he, as a member of the National Farmers Union, served on one of the discussion panels the subject of which was: "How should Southern agriculture meet the problems presented by increased mechanization?"

The Mississippi delegate to the advisory committee has been closely connected with farm work all his life. Born on the family farm 43 years ago he holds a B. S. degree in dairy production from Mississippi State College and a master's degree in agricultural journalism from the University of Wisconsin.

He has at various times edited several farm journals and has held positions with a number of governmental farm bureaus.

In 1945 Mr. Henderson was awarded the Rosenwald fellowship to study problems of the Southern farmer. At present he is a writer and dealer in surplus government materials.

"During the past two years the Southern farm forum has been extremely successful," Mr. Henderson said this week. "This year the program should be better than those in the past."

The purpose of the forum is to provide a medium for public discussion of important agricultural problems affecting the South.

The forum passes no resolutions, nor is any attempt made to fix the opinions of individuals along one line. Debate and discussions are encouraged for the purpose of getting all the facts before those in attendance. The forum is not a set organization, does not have any continuing officers, is politically impartial, and does not attempt to force conclusions on those present.

Everyone interested in any phase of the agricultural industry is invited to attend this free meeting. Farmers, agricultural leaders, men engaged in agriculture, government authorities, agricultural educators, business men and all others whether men or women who are interested, in any way, in the advancement of the agricultural industry of the South are urged to attend.

Vets and Families Are Represented In Washington

Mississippi Veterans and their dependents now have available through the State Veterans Affairs Commission the services of fifteen representatives in Washington, according to a statement made today by Col. W. S. Shipman, Chairman of the State Veterans Affairs Board.

Under an agreement worked out between the national rehabilitation staffs of the AMVETS, the Disabled American Veterans, and the State Veterans Affairs Commission, the claims experts and case workers of these two major veterans' organizations in Washington are now accredited representatives of the Mississippi Veterans Affairs Commission and so recognized by the Veterans Administration, Shipman said.

The accreditation of the national rehabilitation staffs of the DAV and AMVETS, as representatives of the State Veterans Affairs Commission, is the consummation of negotiations between the national rehabilitation offices of the four major veterans' organization and the State Veterans Affairs Board. The American Legion and VFW refused to cooperate in this program for Mississippi veterans, according to Shipman.

In addition to the Washington representation, the representatives of the AMVETS and DAV stationed at the Dallas District Office of the Veterans Administration are also accredited representatives of the Mississippi Veterans Affairs Commission. This assures proper presentation of questions concerning death compensation and National Service Life Insurance matters, these being handled by the VA Office in Dallas.

"We of the State Veterans Affairs Board are gratified that we can now give complete service to our veterans and their dependents all the way from the cross roads of Mississippi to the marble halls of the Veterans Administration in Washington," Colonel Shipman said. "It means that Mississippi veterans can now rest assured that through the Veterans Affairs Commission, an agency of their own home state, they can secure without cost or obligation, a service equal to any in the nation."

Bob De Kay, Commissioner.

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

1950 Is Set As "Pasture Year;"
Seek Twelve Months Of Grazing

By HOWARD SIMMONS

Governor Fielding Wright this week issued a proclamation declaring 1950 as "Pasture Year." This follows the action taken by the State Agricultural Coordinating Council in sponsoring this state-wide program.

"Balance agriculture with agriculture" is the theme which will be developed during the next year. The goal is 5,000,000 acres of year-round grazing in Mississippi.

This campaign, in which Hancock County has set a goal of 1500 acres on improved pasture in 1950, was launched by the agricultural workers in Mississippi.

The State Coordinating Council in cooperation with all business and professional people will work together to make farmers "pasture conscious" during 1950. Other Southern states are following Mississippi's lead in the pasture-making program.

To make 1950 Pasture Year on his farm, a farmer must begin his work in September. He must make his pasture plan, put out minerals and fertilizer and put in crossfences for next year.

With a pasture plan, year-round grazing can be had on any farm. Without a plan, the farmer will come out without grazing some seasons of the year. By planning, he can interplant one crop with another or follow one crop behind another.

For example, oats can be interplanted with crimson clover followed by Sudan or millet. Or, oats planted on sod land can be followed by permanent pasture of white clover or Dallas grass.

The county agent stressed that pastures in Mississippi must be fertilized. The Soil Testing Laboratory at State College will tell farmers the exact amounts of the four main fertilizers—nitrogen, phosphate, potash and lime or crop will provide

Drive Underway
For Construction
Of 3 4-H Camps

Three permanent 4-H Club camps for Mississippi is the goal of a drive begun this month by 4-H Club boys and girls of this and all other counties in the state.

Camps are planned on Sardis Lake in Panola County, another on the Gulf Coast, and the third for negroes in Madison County. The camps will be organized, directly maintained by the Agricultural Extension Service of Mississippi State College.

Cost of each of the three permanent camps will be $75,000.

About 10,000 boys and girls in 4-H now attend camps in the state, but 50,000 would attend if facilities were available. No camps are available for the 52,000 negro 4-H Club boys and girls.

The camps will be dedicated to the youth of Mississippi, including primarily the more than 100,000 4-H Club members. Facilities will be available to other rural organized groups and to educational agencies working with rural people.

Program for use of the camps will include educational and recreational activities which contribute to the enrichment and improvement of rural life in Mississippi.

While attending camp, 4-H Club members will receive training in conservation of natural resources, soil, timber, wildlife, water, health, safety, crafts and all forms of wholesome recreation. Emphasis will be given to the development of character, leadership, relationships and training of citizenship.

On Sardis Lake, the War Department has granted a long-time lease for a 4H camp site. Plans are to build facilities for 250 to 300 people on this several hundred acre area, including bunk houses, mess hall, pavilion, caretaker's home, playgrounds, swimming docks and a waste disposal system.

For the negro camp in Madison County, Flora Parish, negro home demonstration agent, Madison County, gave 50 acres. An added 30 acres grazing all the year. There is a plant for every season, however.

Management is what makes pastures pay off. Pasture specialists have found. Mowing is the foremost management practice for 1950. Others are crossfencing, alternating grazing and never overgrazing any pasture.

has been bought. The planned facilities will accommodate from 200 to 300 campers.

Plans are being developed to establish a permanent camp site on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The drive to raise the total $225,000 for constructing the three camps is being jointly sponsored by the State 4-H Advisory Council and the Extension Service.

Starting the drive are the 4-H Clubs, which will raise one dollar per member.

"Club members should first demonstrate their interest in building permanent camps by making some personal contribution before going to anyone else for subscriptions," declared county 4-H delegates who attended the recent district Council meetings in each of the five Extension districts.

Members of 4-H are participating in the drive in many ways, including sales of hens eggs, potatoes, meal and other produce; special cotton picking days, plays, operating sand-wich and cold drink stands at fairs or ball games, and cooperating with adult groups in sponsoring various public events.

County Home Demonstration Councils have pledged to raise one-dollar per member to support the drive.

The State 4-H Advisory Council is receiving camp contributions from organizations, foundations and individuals.

Money received will be entered in an account specifically designated for one of the three camps. Camp money will be paid out in order recommended by the State 4-H Camp building committee, approved by the director of extension and countersigned by the comptroller of Mississippi State College.

WHY THE
MISSOURI PACIFIC
RAILROAD STRIKE?

Over twenty years ago, the Congress of the United States passed the Railway Labor Act. It was hailed by union leaders as a model for the settlement of labor disputes.

THE LEADERS of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Railway Firemen and Enginemen, Order of Railway Conductors, and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen on the Missouri Pacific Railroad have refused to avail themselves of the peaceful means provided by this Act for settling their disputes. They insist that they be the sole umpire of their own disputes over the meaning of contracts.

There is no Need for Strikes

With all of the available methods for the interpretation of contracts, there is no need for a strike or even a threat of a strike, but the leaders of these railroad unions have ignored the ordinary procedures established by law and insist upon imposing their own interpretations of their contracts by means of a strike.

The wheels have stopped rolling on the Missouri Pacific. They may stop rolling on other railroads at any time. Recently the Wabash Railroad was forced to discontinue operation for several days under similar circumstances.

What are These Strikes About?

These strikes and strike threats are not about wage rates or hours. They result from disputes over the meaning of existing contracts. They cover claims for a full day's pay for less than a day's work, or for payments for services performed by others who were fully paid for the work done.

President Truman's Board
Condemns Strike

There is an established legal method for handling disputes involving existing written contracts—just as there is such a method of settling any contract dispute which you may have in your daily life.

The President of the United States appointed a Fact Finding Board to investigate and adjust the Missouri Pacific dispute. This Board reported, in part, as follows:

"... it is with a deep sense of regret that we are obliged to report the failure of our mission. It seems inconceivable to us that a coercive strike should occur on one of the nation's major transportation systems, with all of the losses and hardships that would follow, in view of the fact that the Railway Labor Act provides an orderly, efficient and complete remedy for the fair and just settlement of the matters in dispute. Grievances of the character here under discussion are so numerous and of such frequent occurrence on all railroads that the general adoption of the policy pursued by the organizations in this case would soon result in the complete nullification of the Railway Labor Act..."

Obviously the railroads cannot be run efficiently or economically if the leaders of the unions ignore agreements or laws.

Provisions of the Law which are Disregarded

There are five ways under the Railway Labor Act to settle disputes over the meaning of contracts:

- 1—Decision by National Railroad Adjustment Board.
- 2—Decision by System Adjustment Board for the specific railroad.
- 3—Decision by arbitration.
- 4—Decision by neutral referee.
- 5—Decision by courts.

The Missouri Pacific Railroad has been and is entirely willing to have these disputes settled in accordance with the requirements of the Railway Labor Act. Regardless of this fact, the union leaders have shut down that railroad.

Innocent Bystanders Suffer
Losses and Hardships

There are about 5,000 engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen on the Missouri Pacific. They are known as "operating" employees, and are the most highly paid of all employees on the nation's railroads, but their strike action has resulted in the loss of work to 22,500 other employees of the Missouri Pacific. In addition, they have imposed great inconvenience and hardship upon the public and the communities served by that railroad.

The Railway Labor Act was designed to protect the public against just such interruptions of commerce.

If these men will not comply with the provisions of the law for the settlement of such disputes, then all thinking Americans must face the question, "What is the next step?"

WANTED! DOVE WINGS AND BANDS

Dove hunters are urged to clip the right wings of all doves they shoot and send them, along with any leg bands found, to the State Game and Fish Commission, Box 451, Jackson, Miss.

St. Clair Thompson, biologist of the commission and project leader of the mourning dove study project, wants wings and bands (if any) to use in a study to determine ages and migratory habits of doves in Mississippi. Shooters can give wings and bands to local wardens if they wish. Please give the date killed and section of county (name of county) where killed.

Studies will be made of the primary coverts and the primary wing feathers as indicated in the drawing above, to determine the approximate age of the dove. The extent of the moult of these particular feathers is the basis for studying the aging process. No preservative is needed to mail the wing. Simply use a fairly heavy weight envelope.

The dove season in Mississippi is divided into two sections. The first is from September 16 thru September 30, 1949 and the second division is from January 1 thru January 15, 1950. Daily limit is ten and possession limit is ten. Shooting hours are from 12 o'clock noon until sunset each day of the open season.

Helpful Hints For Fall Concerning Children, Home, and Garden Given

BY MADGE ALLRED

HEALTHY SCHOOL CHILDREN

Starting to school for the first time is a big adjustment for any child. Regardless of whether the older children are glad for the school bell to ring, or perhaps not so anxious, the little beginners have their own feeling of anxiety.

Busy as mothers are this month, they should make certain that children do not start the new adventure of school under par, or with the odds against them. Physical and emotional health is important.

Every child should have a dental certificate, a physical examination and correction of medical defects.

Exposure to new germs, and in varied amounts, occurs when large numbers of children meet at school. While protection against every illness is not available, parents can have their children given protection against typhoid, scarlet, whooping cough and diphtheria.

Getting ready for school means being ready physically, mentally, emotionally and socially.

VEGETABLES AND FLOWERS

September can be one of the busiest months in the yard and garden. Many people have already begun planting a fall garden. Planting times for some vegetables vary from north, central to south Mississippi.

Be guided in when to plant by the maturity date of each crop. Most fall crops mature in 50 to 75 days, depending upon the area of the state.

Killing frosts usually come in Mississippi as follows: north half of state October 25 to November 5; lower half of state excluding coast counties, November 5 to November 15; coast counties, November 1 to December 1.

Vegetables which may be planted any time during September in any part of the state include leaf lettuce, carrots, kale, spinach, mustard and onions.

Ask the home demonstration agent for a copy of the "Garden, Fruit and Flower Guide," which list 18 good vegetables for the last third of 1949.

A few vegetable garden tips for September include: side-dressing August-planted crops with 5-10-5 or some nitrogen fertilizer, continuing to save homegrown seed, and building a coldframe for October planting. Also to reduce insect and disease damage, keep clean a part of a plot which is not planted or producing. Cut weeds and grass before they go to seed.

Lawns need not be dull gray or bare and spotty during fall, winter and early spring. Italian rye grass, planted now, will make a green lawn within four weeks that will beautify the home all winter.

Sow 5 to 10 pounds of Italian rye grass to each 1,000 square feet of area. The thicker the grass the more attractive the lawn. Seed can be sown on Bermuda sod or bare unprepared soil.

This is an excellent time to make cuttings of evergreens such as camellias, azaleas, Chinese holly, abelia, and pfitzer juniper. Use of rooting dusa will speed up rooting.

Seed of several annual flowers can be planted in the open garden for blooms next spring. Such annuals include California poppies, larkspur, annual phlox, cornflower, coreopsis and gaillardia.

Do not destroy old verbena and snapdragon plants, which are usually winter hardy in Mississippi.

Seed of some perennial flowers can be planted this month in a coldframe, seed box or protected bed.

Prune weak wood out of roses this month. Continue to dust roses with a mixture of one part ferrous and eight parts of sulphur to control mildew and black spot.

Parents Need Not Fear Polio In Schools, Foundation Reports

The opening of schools on scheduled dates throughout the country, despite the occurrence this year of the largest infantile paralysis epidemic in history, is no cause for parents' alarm, even though thousands of new cases may be expected during the next weeks, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis declared today.

The Foundation, now conducting a Polio Epidemic Emergency Drive to raise $14,500,000 to enable its chapters to care for an anticipated 40,000 cases by the end of the year, pointed out that new cases are being reported at a rate of 3,000 a week. But experience shows that school openings never have affected the course of epidemic, either to abate or increase the incidence rate, according to Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director.

Certain precautions should continue to be observed both at home and at school, he advised, but the assembling of pupils under one roof is not regarded in itself as hazardous. The majority of schools in incidence areas have opened or will open soon, in conformity with recommendations of a national conference of health authorities sponsored by the National Foundation early this summer, he added.

Many inquiries from parents during the last week prompted Dr. Van Riper's statement.

"The reasons for the recommendation regarding schools are threefold," Dr. Van Riper explained. "First, closing schools or delaying their opening has not affected the course of outbreaks of poliomyelitis in the past. Indeed, such action often has resulted in public panic. Whatever is done to upset the usual routine of children in a household, or adults, in their occupations, is likely to bring more trouble than good.

no way altered because there have been no inductions within the past few months.

The operation of Selective Service System has been curtailed to some extent, due to the fact that voluntary enlistments have been fulfilling the needs of the armed forces. Practically all boards are now operating on a part-time basis. However, we do have a stand-by operation, and the board is open sufficient time to take care of all registrants. The local board office for this county is located in the Courthouse, Main Street, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, and is open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. on Wednesdays.

—Miss Adele Seyle has returned from California where she spent the greater part of the summer. She is again at her home 123 Sycamore St., with Miss Sallie Pearson.

"Second, since children usually play with other children in their neighborhood, they probably have had the same exposure to their playmates as they will have when school opens. And there usually is less supervision when schools are not in session, so early symptoms may not be spotted as promptly.

"Third, it is intimate contact between those who are infected and those who are susceptible that causes the spread of infantile paralysis. Normal school contacts do not involve intimate living, such as takes place in households. Merely sitting side by side in a schoolroom does not constitute intimate contact."

Dr. Van Riper urged the continuance of such precautions as avoidance of over-fatigue, assurance of adequate rest and sleep, strict observance of cleanliness and avoiding the use of utensils or implements belonging to other children, particularly objects that may be placed in the mouth. Routine daily checking on each child's health for early notice of symptoms such as headache, nausea, muscle soreness and fever also was advised.

With respect to schools to which children are transported in busses from widely separated areas or boarding schools, excluding colleges and universities Dr. Van Riper said occasional exceptions may be made regarding school openings. These involve such situations as when a school is located in a high incidence area, and children are brought into that area from regions where the disease is not prevalent.

"The thing to ask yourself is what would your child do if school were not open," he concluded. "If your child would be just as exposed to possible contacts through busses, movies, church attendance and social gatherings, then obviously nothing will be gained by keeping him out of school—except a disturbance of his normal pattern of life."

Meanwhile the National Foundation reported that contributions addressed to POLIO, care of post offices throughout the country, were coming in steadily to booster epidemic aid funds which were sufficient for only eleven days on September 8. The total patient care bill for the National Foundation this year is estimated at $31,000,000 as compared with $17,000,000 last year.

Mrs. McDonnell, who was graduated from Bay High in the class of 1945, has been employed by the Alaska Railroad for the past year; Mr. McDonnell is co-owner of the Spudnut Shop.

—Patsy Gex and Jackie Quintini left Tuesday for the University of Alabama where they are enrolled as freshmen.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of my dear sister, MAY BELLE OSBOURN departed Sept. 26, 1948. Nothing can ever take away The love my heart holds dear, Fond memories linger every day, Remembrance keeps you near.

When I sit in quiet alone To my heart there comes a longing If you could only come home.

Friends may think I have forgotten When at times they see me smile But they little know the heart aches My smiles hide all the while. Sadly missed by your sister, Edwina.
